Guy Carpenter's i-aXs™ Platform Wins MapInfo Award For Excellence in Use of Location Intelligence

New York, May 9, 2007

Guy Carpenter & Company, LLC, the leading global risk and reinsurance specialist and a part of the Marsh & McLennan Companies (NYSE: MMC), today announced that its i-aXs risk management platform has received the 2007 MapInfo Meridian Award for Organizational Impact in recognition of its innovative mapping technology and outstanding use of location intelligence. The award was presented today at MapWorld 2007 in Seattle.

“For insurance companies, there is perhaps no factor more critical than location,” said Craig Bedell, Director of Global Insurance, Pitney Bowes MapInfo. “This award is focused on recognizing organizations that are using mapping technology and information in new, innovative and impactful ways. i-aXs, with its ability to help clients visualize their portfolio exposures and losses at a granular level, is an excellent example of leveraging location intelligence to increase productivity and enhance profitability. All of us at Pitney Bowes MapInfo congratulate Guy Carpenter on receiving this year’s Meridian award.”

The innovative i-aXs platform uses cutting-edge location intelligence technology and data analysis tools to provide insurers with access to near real-time exposure data, as well as the ability to manage and visualize their portfolios of exposures through an easy-to-use, web-based interface. The platform, which was built using Pitney Bowes MapInfo expert services’ team, world-class geocoding capabilities and global data technology, is tightly integrated with Guy Carpenter’s risk management expertise and technical support and is designed to help insurers make faster, more informed portfolio risk management decisions.

“We are honored to receive this award from Pitney Bowes MapInfo and thank them for recognizing i-aXs,” said Ryan Ogaard, Managing Director and Global Leader of Guy Carpenter’s Instrat® unit. “This achievement is a testament to our entire team’s hard work, not just in using the latest in mapping and location technology, but doing it in a user-friendly way that has a tangible strategic and bottom-line impact for our clients. The response of the market to i-aXs has been outstandingly positive, as insurers see the benefits that real-time visualization can bring to their decision-making process.”
